

Fund Development

Fundraising, grant-writing, public relations, and more

Can you afford to wait until your coffers are empty to fill them up again? Do you find your revenues fluctuate greatly each and every year? Each month? Are you using the Internet to the best of your ability to collect donations?

The fund development and grant writing efforts of an organization should be an ongoing process. Hiring professionals from The Adeo Group to facilitate your fund development and grant writing efforts is an investment in a brighter future for your organization.

Our professionals have helped numerous organizations with their grant writing efforts. We have successfully developed, researched, and written countless state, federal, and local proposals that were funded as well as proposals to foundations and corporate donors. We specialize in working with organizations in the human services arena, but have helped scores of other organizations as well.

Why should your organization out-source your grant writing and fund development efforts?

- ◆ To relieve the workload in your organization.
- ◆ To avoid daunting deadlines.
- ◆ To allow management to focus on other important organizational responsibilities.
- ◆ To permit reallocation of key organizational resources.
- ◆ To compensate for lack of related experience.

Give us a call and learn how we can help YOUR organization in its fund development and grant writing efforts. We'll put our team to work for YOU.

"The Adeo team worked with us every step of the way...if not for Adeo, we would not have even been in the running!"

- Joyce, Indianapolis, IN

"The Adeo team worked with us to develop a comprehensive fundraising plan from the ground up. Thanks to Adeo, we were able to secure foundation grants and revenues from private donors to provide much-needed funding for services to the community."
